

BitTribe

A new digital era is here, and with it, a new reality.

10 years ago, the creation of Bitcoin disrupted the world by revealing a peer-to-peer electronic cash system that is simple and unstructured, yet robust and powerful. For the first time, a technology called blockchain has made people realize how rules can be enforced and how transactions can be executed, purely peer-to-peer, no authority, no centralization.

When there is consensus based on rules, when there is trust coded into a system, when there is an autonomous digital society, physical boundaries are meaningless, we are all residents in a new digital world.

Join us in creating this new digital world, a blockchain world where everyone can take part in creating new identity, new money, new economy, new forms of connection and collaboration, a world that everyone can call home.

Who are we? We are native residents of BitTribe, the first autonomous crypto tribe that may be a small star in a new digital universe. We are engineers, entrepreneurs, scholars, researchers, humanitarians and most importantly, dreamers of a new reality.

Join us as residents in BitTribe, where you regain control of your digital identity and your economic power in a new monetary system.

Join us as architects for a new digital world, where you build technology ecosystem and foster new ideas like never before.

Join us as ambassadors to this digital world, where the door is open to everyone, simply no boundaries.

Join us.
